The Lessons of a Life.

In December, 1845, in the Department of the Voge, Xavier Thiriat a boy of ten, accompanied four young girls of about the same age, to the church. They had to cross a brook, over which was placed a single loose plank. The boy crossed safely, the first girl who attempted it, fell in.
The boy jumped in, pulled her out, and then, walking in the water, guided each of the girls across. Some time was lost by this, and the party reached church late. Xavier, ashamed of being late, did not go up to the stove, but kept behind. He reached home chilled, a dangerous disease followed, by which he was left a complete cripple for life; his only mode of moving about was on hands and knees, so completely were his legs distorted and paralyzed. Coming of very poor people, there was every prospect that Thiriat would be a very heavy charge to his family and a wretched burden to himself. Instead of this, he reached manhood bright, cheerful and intelligent. Reading all the books he could lay hold of, he was soon the best educated man in his district, and rapidly acquired extensive influence, which was always used for good. He induced the young people to read and study. Some contributions to the local newspaper, the Echo des Voge, attracted attention and made him known, the result of which was that further intellectual opportunities were extended to him. He made himself a good botanist, meteorologist, instructed others in these branches, and procured the foundation of several local libraries. He could not, however, be satisfied without achieving his complete independence, and earning his support.
He obtained the position of manager of the telegraph at a neighboring town, was made Secretary to the Mayor, became a favorite correspondent to several agricultural papers, and received the highest reward of the "French Franklin Society"—its gold medal.

All this was accomplished by native force of character and strong religious feeling, under circumstances not merely adverse, but, at first, absolutely hopeless. A horrible deformity, intense suffering, absence of instruction, crushing poverty—all these disabilities were overcome unaided, and this ignorant and crippled lad made himself the light, intellectual and moral, of his whole district.—Public Ledger.

The Brussels police are much elated at the capture of a female pickpocket who is reputed to be the ablest operator in that line, and is known by the sobriquet of "The Golden Hand." This artist and her husband work in concert and have quite a European reputation. Berlin, Vienna, London and Paris have in turn been the scene of their exploits; indeed, the lady boasts that she had made the tour of the world. In Paris they have spent eleven years but though robbing actively all the time, their operations were conducted with such marvelous skill and cunning that no robbery could ever be brought home to them.
However, the fatal day came last month. A detective who was shadowing Madame T'Servranx saw her approach a lady at the Northern Railroad, who was buying her ticket. The "Golden Hand" followed the passenger, and just as she was entering the railroad carriage, she, too, appeared intent on doing the same. This caused a little embarrassment, which ended by Madame T'Servranx gracefully giving way, and presently leaving the station. "Have you your purse?" asked the detective. "Gracious, it's gone and full of money, too," was the answer. "The Golden Hand" was arrested a few minutes later, and her husband congratulated the officer in the most flattering terms.

An atmosphere surcharged with particles of fine flour is certainly highly inflammable, if not explosive. A week ago yesterday, the workmen employed in one of the largest flour mills in Minneapolis, Minn., saw a volume of flame coursing through what is known as the blast-box, a conductor used in carrying fine dust from the burs to the open air. The workmen seized a number of fire extinguishers and without excitement or confusion brought the flames under control, but not until the wood work of the long box had been charred from end to end. The explanation of the origin of the fire is quite simple. The foreman conjectured that one of the burs was revolving without feed, and while the upper stone was raised as usual, a nail or fragment of lime emitted a spark which was enough to ignite the fine dust which was carried through the blast-box. It will not be forgotten that the destruction of the candy factory in Bradclay street has been ascribed to the explosive vapors generated in the process of manufacture of gum candy.—Exchange

The Oakland Democrat besought voters not to leave the party, and instead of obeying the Democrat the party went over en masse to the laborers.

Home Conversational Train- ing.

There is no nation more fluent in conversation than the American. The French are more valuable, perhaps, their language permitting greater rapidity of pronunciation than English. Our best conversationalists are not rapid talkers. One trouble with us is, each one likes to do all the talking, therefore Americans are not good listeners. But mere talking is not conversation. In almost all home circles there is much talking done during the day, but we fear there is few who do not reserve their most brilliant conversational powers for other assemblages than the home group. Many a father comes home tired; he has worked hard and talked a great deal, told amusing anecdotes and displayed much wit. He has come home to rest. He takes out his paper, and is soon oblivious to everything around him. Wife would like to tell him many of the harassing afflictions of the day, and would like to hear some of his interesting experiences, but if he were a deaf mute he could not be more silent, only an occasional grunt answering her many attempts at conversation; and the children, except the good-night kiss, and often not even that, are not noticed.
Such a home, whether the abode of wealth or otherwise, cannot be a healthy and happy one. As a parallel, draw around the evening lamp of another home circle. The father tells the anecdotes from the papers as he reads them; mother laughs her sweet, low laugh, and the children burst into merry ha! ha's! To watch them as they ask questions, and listen to the answers and patient explanations, the wonderment, interest, and thought imprinted on their young faces, is a picture for an artist. This home education is a heritage more valuable than land or money; and one beautiful recompense in life is, that in making others happy we bring happiness to ourselves. Parents who practice self-denial, and endeavor by cheerful conversation and playful wit, to enliven home life, will reap a rich reward in the better thoughts and nobler actions of their children, and will experience the truest and best contentment themselves.—Baltimore American.

A SOUP HOUSE FOR THE POOR.—
For the past few days the San Francisco Benevolent Association have been making arrangements to increase the facilities for feeding the hungry, destitute people who are suffering for food. A. C. Morse, one of the officers of the Association, has been during the week perfecting arrangements to start operations on Monday next.

Dr. Zeile has kindly tendered to the Society the use of the old circus lot, corner Montgomery Avenue and Jackson street. The lumber is already on the ground, the Supervisors having passed an order to allow the construction of the building. The room will be 30x20, in which will be erected a stove and boiler capable of making 100 gallons of soup per day. The Society will be able to furnish 200 persons daily with bread, meat, vegetables and soup. About one hundred and fifty meal tickets per day have been issued by the Society the past three weeks, costing 15 cents each.—*S. F.

The First Notes.

We believe that the coming Senatorial Campaign is to be one of great importance to this State, and any thought which we may induce upon the subject will serve a good purpose. The first indication in regard to Jones' candidacy came from the Carson Appeal, the second from San Francisco and the latest is from Washington. The last is in form of a letter from Geo. C. Gorham, and states definitely the claims of Senator Jones, we aim to reproduce the gist of these claims only, and without comment. We admire the frankness of Senator Jones in the statement of his position towards the President, although honestly differing from his views.

Mr. Gorham says, that Mr. Jones is the head and front of the silver movement in Congress. That he has applied himself solely to the financial questions and mastered them. That through him the sophistical arguments of the gold sharps have been met and overthrown. Mr. Gorham makes an appeal to us upon grounds of interest to support the defender of silver, and says that no new man can fill his place, that the fees of silver are able and adroit, and that in Senator Jones they find their master. Mr. G. then goes on to demand Jones' reelection as a Republican, on the score of his pronounced hostility to the President, crediting him with a hearty espousal of radical Republicanism, and claiming for him fresh consideration upon the ground, adds that Jones can do more for Nevada than any other man of any party. Mr. Gorham adds: "You are right in your supposition that the Senator has been financially crippled. He is no longer a man of wealth, though he will not owe the world a dollar when he adjusts his affairs. He was generous with his wealth, not profligate. He has suffered by unfortunate investments, ($300,000 in one direction solely to help a friend into business). It used to be said that he made a moneyed contest for the Senate in 1872. If to help every poor fellow who was in distress and applied to him, without regard to party, and without thought of reward; if to give with free hand, and to be above thought of turning it to account, was making a moneyed contest, then he did make one. But if it was meant that he put out money as an inducement for nomination, or for votes at primary or general election, or at the Legislature, the accusation was false, as you and all well-informed persons know."

The writer then asks to be excused for thrusting himself into the affairs of Nevada, and admits that the act has been unauthorized. The people ought to think of these things, and call upon their memories in considering Senator Jones' claims.

A Crisis in England.

Sir Stafford Northcote Thursday notified the House of Commons that he will next Monday move for a vote on the supplementary supplies for the British army and navy. In the House of Lords, Earl Beaconsfield (the Premier), in answer to a question by the Duke of Argyll, said that England is not going to be dictated to by other Powers. The Earl of Carnarvon, Colonial Secretary, and Earl Derby, Foreign Secretary, were not present; both peace ministers, Carnarvon and Derby have resigned, and that there is great excitement in London. The Ministry have never been a unit on the question at issue, and it is probable that the warlike demonstrations and speeches of the Premier and Chancellor of the Exchequer may cause a break-up in the Cabinet.

It is very probable that England merely wants to test her influence. Germany and Italy remain firm to Russia; Austria is neutral and cannot be relied on to give any support to England; France, because of her dislike for Germany, might help England, but France has her own home troubles and does not care to plunge into a tremendous conflict with her old foes. England stands pretty much alone, unaided even at home. Gladstone, Derby and Carnarvon form a strong peace leadership. Thus, with a divided Government, it is very probable that the $30,000,000 supplemental vote will not be passed next Monday.

The Southern, Texas, and Union Pacific railroads will claim much of the time of the present session of Congress. The Southern Pacific took a wordy benefit yesterday.

Cabinet in Congress.

The Pendleton Committee, in their report to the Thirty-eighth Congress, thus speaks of the proposition that members of the Cabinet may come down to the House and speak and give information on questions of national and international importance:

The experience of all the world commends this plan. An examination of the constitutions, written or unwritten, of every country which has a representative assembly, will show that without a single exception, as the Committee believes, save only in the United States, the Executive Ministers, either themselves or by an authorized substitute, have a voice in its deliberation. In some cases they are members of the body, elected as the others; in some they are ex-officio members; in some they have seats without membership, and the right to vote; in some they have an unlimited right to debate; in all they have the right to state facts, to give information to explain the provisions of pending measures, and to urge their adoption. When Louis Napoleon, after the overthrow of the French Republic, promulgated the Constitution of January, 1852, he prohibited, for the first time in France, the Ministers from holding a seat in the Corps Legislatif; but he organized a Council of State, and among their duties was the deputation of certain of their number to present to the Legislature and take charge of the adoption of the laws which should be submitted to them. A conspicuous illustration of the merits of this system is to be found in Great Britain. The acts of the Executive pass under the scrutiny of the members of Parliament and the nation, and by their judgment are approved or condemned. In no country does the Executive so quickly and so completely yield to the will of the Legislature. It is true the Ministers hold their office at the will of the House of Commons, but this is only because the Executive office is lifelong. Here the substitute is found in the quadrennial elections of our President. In Spain the Ministers are responsible to the Cortes, and are admitted to the floor, both to give information and to debate. In Greece, under the Constitution of 1824, the simple provision was: "They shall at all times be admitted to the floor of the Senate, and be heard when they desire it." In Sardinia the same rule prevails, and it has also been observed in the formation of the new kingdom of Italy. Switzerland admits the counsellors to the Federal Diet. The Constitution of Brazil, promulgated in 1832, provided that the "Ministers may take part in the discussions, but they may neither vote nor be present at the voting, unless they are Senators or Deputies."

Senator Eustis, who has been claimed by the hard money men, says that he is in favor of the remonetization of silver, and thinks the capitalists are not only wrong but impolitic in opposing its remonetization, because if this much is not conceded to the debtor class, the probabilities are that the debtors will soon have to pay their debts in discharges from bankruptcy, which he fancies the creditors will find a less valuable circulating medium than even the silver for which they profess to have so great a loathing.

LEGAL ASPIRANTS.—The Supreme Court was in session Thursday and was engaged in examining into the qualifications of Messrs. Soderberg, Whitehill and Merzbach, to engage for such consideration as they may hereafter secure, in the practice of law in the State of Nevada. The examination was very difficult, but the answers of the candidates were very satisfactory. They all passed, and we are informed by Prof. Merzbach that the Justices remarked on admitting the gentlemen that it was the most thorough examination ever passed in the Court.—Carson Appeal.

The Chronicle says: "Since 1875 the population of California has not increased over four per cent., if so much. But there has been the startling increase of 21 per cent. in State prisoners, whereof San Francisco has supplied over one-third."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The United States minister at Honolulu reports that the carrying trade between the United States and Hawaiian Islands has increased one half since the reciprocity treaty went into effect.

Otto Greenhood claims with much spirit that he is the original translator of "The Problem of the Age," and in his zeal treats with icy indifference the name of the author who made translation possible.

Lord Derby and Earl Carnarvon, the only peace members in the British Cabinet, have resigned.

Ireland is liable to a potato famine. The crop is reported less than during any year since '46.

The Armistice—Russia's Conditions.

The London Daily Telegraph of the 25th prints the following from Constantinople: The Turkish delegates have been ordered to sign peace preliminaries. The Armistice will probably be concluded to-day. The conditions are stated to include the following: Servia is to be independent without compensation; Montenegro to receive Ativari, Niesia and Spur and that portion of Turkey bordering on Lake Scutari; Russia to hold Batoum, Kars and Erzerum until a war indemnity of twenty million pounds is paid; the Dardanelles to be open to Russian men-of-war; Bulgarian autonomy to be conceded, rather on the principle of Lebanon than on the plan of the Constantinople Conference, and Turkey to nominate a Christian Governor for a long term of years, subject to ratification by the Powers.

Bulgaria is not understood to include Thrace, but only to extend to the Balkans. Part of the Russia army to embark at Constantinople for their return home, and a final treaty of peace to be signed at Constantinople by the Grand Duke Nicholas. This arrangement will satisfy Russian military honor, without involving the occupation of Constantinople. There is no mention of Roumania in this dispatch.

At Washington the news, published yesterday, of Sitting Bull having crossed the frontier for hostile purposes is doubted; but a general Indian war is anticipated in the Spring by those who know most about the Indians.

In the recent fire at Honolulu the King did his duty as a fireman, and worked on the brakes of a hand engine. Over $250,000 worth of property was destroyed.

The English fleet was ordered to Gallipoli and Constantinople on Thursday, but, yesterday, on receipt of the peace terms, the order was countermanded.

The Russian peace conditions have been accepted by the Porte. The terms are not positively known, but are believed to be extremely hard.

FIREMEN'S MEETING.—At a meeting last evening of Fire Company No. 2 the following gentlemen were elected as officers of Washoe No. 2 for the ensuing term of six months: Foreman, A. C. Bragg; First Assistant, N. J. Salisbury; Second Assistant, S. N. Davidson. S. F. Hoole presented the Company with a trumpet which had for many years been in the service of the Virginia City fire department. R. P. Chapin was elected a member of the Company. S. F. Hoole, R. P. M. Kelley and N. B. Kendall were elected as members of a Board of Delegates of the fire department. The two remaining companies will also elect delegates to this Board. The Board of Delegates will then meet and complete the organization of the Reno Fire Department. S. F. Hoole proposed that the Company give a public entertainment at the earliest date convenient, for the purpose of raising additional funds with which to build an engine house for the Company. The proposition was accepted and S. F. Hoole, R. P. M. Kelley and N. J. Salisbury were appointed a Committee of Arrangements. The entertainment will consist of a theatrical performance and fair. The meeting then adjourned.

District Court.

Saturday, January 26.

The demurrer in the case of Osburn vs. Fredricks was overruled and five days given to answer.

Hobart vs. L. D. & M. Wicks. Demurrer overruled and ten days to answer.

Mayberry vs. Knox. Set for trial February 15.

M. C. Lake vs. Mrs. Bowers and F. Wooten. Set for trial March 1.

L. Richardson vs. S. F. Hoole. Motion for a new trial taken under advisement.

Smith vs. Mayberry. Case argued and taken under advisement by the Court.

Case of Winfrey vs. McGowan on trial this afternoon.

PROPOSED REDUCTION.—The Western Union Telegraph Co. will make a reduction about the first of next month, in its charges for all messages sent East. About the first of next March this reduction will be made general. This news, of course, is hailed on all sides. Not that the above company charge exorbitant rates, but the increasing business in telegraphing, combined with improved facilities for sending messages demand that all messages be transmitted as cheaply as possible.

Dr. J. T. Johnson of our town has gone to Virginia City, and entered into partnership with Dr. Grant. We regret to lose Dr. Johnson, for he is not only a good citizen and gentleman, but an excellent physician.

Dr. A. Dawson, has purchased the office furniture of Dr. Johnson, and will permanently practice medicine in Reno. Dr. Dawson has too many friends in Reno to leave us and go to Carson. We said that he would return before many weeks.

Ten car loads of beef cattle were shipped from this point to-day for Melrose and San Francisco. Seven car loads of these, sold by Sandy Crocker to Lux & Miller, go to San Francisco. The other three to Melrose, near Oakland.

Remember Professor Jacobson's soiree this evening at the Reno Opera House. Dancing will commence at eight o'clock.

REMOVAL NOTICE.—Osborn & Shoemaker, Druggists, inform their old patrons and the community generally, that they will on the 1st day of February, move into the building occupied by J. N. Jaquith, one door west of their present stand. 1-30tf

NEW COMERS.—Tandy & Cook respectfully inform the citizens of Reno that they have leased the Bidden photograph gallery for a short time, and will be pleased to receive the patronage of all who are aiming to get first class pictures of themselves. We guarantee our work to be equal in tone and finish to that produced at the first galleries of San Francisco. We will remain in Reno but a few weeks, and feel confident that we will satisfy all who may favor us with their patronage during that time. Respectfully, 1-30tf TANDY & COOK.

REMOVAL.—Yankee Dodge has removed to the store formerly occupied by Misses Brown & Harney, where he will be pleased to see his friends and patrons. He will keep constantly on hand a general assortment of Yankee notions and fancy goods, and sell them cheaper than any other house in Reno. We will have an auction sale every Saturday evening. Be sure and give us a call before purchasing elsewhere. Don't forget the place, opposite the Reno Opera House, Virginia street. 1-31tf

The Workingmen's Convention in San Francisco is largely attended. Speeches were made yesterday by Kearney, Knight, Wellock and other leaders. A State Central Committee was elected and a platform adopted.

Petitions are being circulated in San Francisco asking that the so-called gag law shall be repealed.

Charles Lamb used to tell that meeting Coleridge in London streets one morning, the latter caught him by a button of his coat and began with his eyes closed, to pour out a whole flood of poetry and mystical philosophy. Quietly taking a knife from his pocket, Lamb cut off the button and left. When he passed by some hours afterwards Coleridge was still standing in the same place, holding the button between his finger and thumb, sawing the air with his hand and totally unconscious that he no longer had a listener.

The abuse of the fee system in San Francisco has called forth a bill from Assemblyman John Swift to abolish the entire system except in the case of the Assessor, and return to salaries. We believe in a composite system, part salary, part fees, principal pay in regular salary. For dereliction in office an infliction of due punishment—no whitewashing.

Our orthodox friends, and notably that duck of a parson, Rev. Hemphill, seem to look upon religion as a sort of moral boiler—not worth a cent unless there is fire under it.

The National Gold Medal was awarded to Bradley & Rulofson for the best Photographs in the United States, and the Vienna Medal for the best in the world. 429 Montgomery Street, San Francisco.

Hoole & Co.'s Hair Tonic will prevent your hair from falling out, cleanse the scalp of dandruff, and renew its growth. It is a splendid hair dressing. Try it.

Hoole & Co.'s Mystic Balm will prevent or cure chapped hands or face—render them soft as velvet and white as snow. Warranted to cure or money returned.

Hoole & Co.'s Moth and Freckle Eradicator will beautify the complexion, remove freckles and moth spots—is a harmless and splendid compound for the toilet. Prescriptions accurately compounded by a scientific Pharmacist—a graduate of twenty years practice—at the lowest rates. HOOLE & CO.'S PHARMACY, Commercial Row. 1-9tf Rockless Competition.

A couple of stationers living opposite to each other in a well known seashore resort on the south coast of England, recently got at loggerheads. One of them, in order to draw his neighbor's customers, piled his window with shilling packets of note paper marked at elevenpence. People stared, walked in and purchased. The next morning, when the other man's shutters were taken down, the window was filled with shilling packets of a note paper marked 8d. Day by day this little game went on, one underselling the other until prices gradually dropped to 6d., 5d., 4d., 3d., and 2d.

By this time the town saw and enjoyed the joke; and, notwithstanding the efforts made to keep the sales down, by taking at least ten minutes to seal or tie up every purchase, the two stationers were heavy sufferers, and every man, woman and child in the town was supplied with enough note paper to last them half a lifetime. However, the fight went on, each man devoutly wishing, he had stuck to his legitimate trade, and had not tried to undersell his neighbor. The morning following the "3d." day found the opposite window with the shilling packets 1d. This was too much.

Within ten minutes an enormous placard obscured the window of the other man, bearing in huge letters, the words, "Go to the fool opposite." But the "fool opposite" had had enough. In a few minutes the penny ticket disappeared, and in its place, the old price, one shilling. In a twinkling down came the poster bearing the obnoxious words, and an exactly similar placard appeared, announcing that "The price of a shilling packet of note paper is one shilling." And thus the war of extermination ended.

During the past Summer deep-sea ploughing was done in the harbor of Belfast, Me. The bottom of the bay is covered with a tenacious, clayey deposit, into which the steam shovel penetrates with difficulty; and to loosen it a huge Michigan plough was set to work under the water, drawn by steam power on the shore, using a wire rope to form connections. The water at high tide was about twenty feet deep when the plough was working. The man that held it was encased in diver's armor, and supplied with air by a flexible tube connecting with an air pump on a vessel floating above. He came up at our request, and after removing his air-tight helmet and conversing a few moments, was again put in connection with the pump and disappearing under the water went on with the ploughing. This to us was a novel proceeding, and, so far as we can learn, it was the first experiment of the kind ever made.—Exchange.

The National Life Boat Institution of England in 1877 saved 431 lives and thirty eight vessels. In the same period the Life Boat Institution granted reward for saving 200 lives by fishing and other boats. Since its formation the Society has contributed to the saving of 23,300 shipwrecked persons, for which services it has granted 975 gold and silver medals, besides pecuniary rewards to the amount of $270,000.

The finishing touches have just been given to the Hoosac tunnel, although trains had previously been running through it regularly. The passage of a train occupies ten minutes, except freight trains, which take a longer time. Three equidistant lights enable the engineer to regulate the speed. Otherwise the tunnel is dark and generally full of smoke.

At Aurora, Ill., a milkman left a milk can turned bottom upward on a table near the house, in such a way that it reflected the rays of the sun on a window, causing sufficient heat to set fire to a blind, and but for the timely discovery of the flame, the house would have been consumed.

WATCHES!! JEWELRY!!

ROMAINE GOLD.
So extensively worn in PARIS, France, that it is now the celebrated French chemist, M. D. De Delame, who manufactured it into jewelry, and for five years sold it to the leading jewellers of Paris for solid gold. In 1875, when his secret became known, the French manufacturing jewellers established a stock company, with a capital of $10,000,000 for the purpose of manufacturing Romaine Gold Jewelry and watch cases, and the aid of improved machinery, they are enabled to produce all the latest patterns of jewelry at less than one-tenth the cost of solid gold, and in a quarter of the time. It is impossible even for experts to detect it from the genuine.

We have secured the exclusive agency of the United States and Canada, for the sale of all goods manufactured from this metal, and in order to introduce them in the most speedy manner, have put up assorted sample lots as given below, which we will sell
